

River Region Ethics Announces 2016 Finalists for River Region Ethics and Public Service Awards

Montgomery, AL – River Region Ethics and Public Service (RREPS) has announced the small, medium and large business finalists as well as the individual community leaders for the 2016 River Region Ethics and Public Service Awards.

RREPS began receiving nominations in November 2015 for this year's finalists. Earlier this year, the program worked in collaboration with Auburn University at Montgomery's (AUM) Schools of Business and Sciences to interview and conduct research on all of the 2016 nominees. AUM business and public administration graduate students researched the ethics policies and practices of each of the nominees.

Recently an independent selection committee made up of community leaders reviewed the academic reports and designated the following three (3) finalists for each 2016 River Region Ethics and Public Service Award category:

Small Business

Cloverdale Service Center, The Locker Room, Pure Barre

Medium Business

Balch & Bingham, LLP, Hans Heating & Air, Thompson Insurance

Large Business

Caddell Construction Company, Warren Averett, Bradley Plumbing and Heating, Inc.

Non-profit Organizations/Public Agencies

Tukabatchee Council of the Boy Scouts of America, River Region United Way, WVAS-FM

Individual Community Leaders

Mrs. Lynn Beshear, The Honorable Charles N. Price, Dr. John Moorehouse
